

Real Value Where It Counts

Interactive Panoramic Video

Henkels & McCoy

has perfected a unique process to provide viewers with an immersed experience of any situation. Interactive Panorama Videos provide viewers with the ability to tour all angles of an open space or structure in a fluid and user friendly experience. Now, users can focus on features in the structure instead of trying to navigate through an array of fuzzy and ambiguous photos. Interactive Panorama Videos allow the user to spin a structure 360 degrees in all directions and zoom in tight to view artifacts with just a click of the mouse or the stroke of a finger.

Henkels & McCoy

has the ability to take Interactive Panorama Videos from within a structure or remotely to record tight spaces and decrepit structures. Recording Interactive Panorama Videos remotely is the best way to keep inspectors safe and provide customers with situational awareness. Settle for a stack of single shot photos or have full situation awareness with Henkels & McCoy Interactive Panorama Videos at the same cost with no strings attached!
